

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS MAY BE DELIVERED ON TUESDAY OR WEDNESDAY

Organization Will Be Speedy So That German Situation May Be Discussed.

WAR BILL FROM THE HOUSE

Measure Must Originate in Lower Branch of Congress Because It Carries With It An Appropriation; Delay Here Public Will Not Stand Delay.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—President Wilson was said today to be hopeful that the House of Representatives will pass its organization plans so that there will be no delay in affording him opportunities to make his address on the war situation in a joint session with the Senate. No matter how the final organization is perfected, administration leaders are active, and it is long felt to be in prospect some sort of an announcement is likely to be made to permit the President's appearance Tuesday or Wednesday. Officials feel that public opinion will not support a long struggle and committee patronage at such a critical time.

The resolution for Congressional action to comply with the President's recommendation publicly will be considered first in the House, leaving the Senate to take it up later. The House foreign affairs committee now is testing various forms of resolutions in view of the executive's recommendation.

Another reason for original House action is the probability that the resolution will carry an emergency appropriation. Appropriation measures must originate there.

The President has received recommendations from several Cabinet members on points to be included in his address.

The final Cabinet meeting before the assembling of Congress will be held tomorrow and members will be ready to report on preliminary preparedness measures.

GERMANS TRY TO DIVERT FRENCH RUSH

The Germans are striking back in Champagne in a determined effort to divert General Nivelle from his ceaseless pounding at the base of the snarled Hindenburg line. The scene of the counter-offensive launched by Field Marshal von Hindenburg is along a 15 mile front starting about 25 miles east of Rheims. Attacking in force in this sector the Germans have driven the French from some of their advanced trenches but have failed so far to make a serious impression in the defender's line.

In the meantime the iron semi-circle which General Nivelle has thrown around the southern half of the great St. Gobain plateau is steadily contracting. If the French maintain their present rate of advance it can only be a matter of a very few days before the entire plateau is in their grasp, removing the last great natural barrier to Laon.

The British are moving forward steadily to the north but the fact that they are capturing villages with ease indicates that they are not yet in contact with the main German forces. The most advanced British outposts are still 10 miles from the Cambrai line where allied observers have assumed the Germans proposed to make their real stand.

Military critics are reverting to the belief that the present German retreat is only part of the plan for a retirement on a tremendous scale to the Belgian border. In the support of this theory it is pointed out that withdrawal from the Neve and Bapaume salients is rapidly forcing the whole German line into the form of an immense right angle. The rights of this angle run north and south for 120 miles from Neupont on the Belgian coast to Laon. The horizontal runs for about the same distance east to the Lorraine border. It is late the apex of this angle that General Nivelle is boring his way threatening to cut the forces of the invaders squarely in two.

GROUND GLASS FOUND IN RED CROSS BANDAGES

NEW YORK, March 29.—Inspection of ground glass in bandages prepared for the American Red Cross have been discovered. It was declared in a statement from the organization, authorized by Albert W. Straub, director of its Atlantic division.

"I am quoted in the newspapers," the statement reads, "as having declared in Philadelphia that medical supplies made by Red Cross workers have been found impregnated with spies and that bandages have been found soaked with poisonous chemicals. No such statement was made by me."

"It is true, however, that in one of two instances we have found ground glass in bandages for the Red Cross. These have been promptly detected."

ASKS WILSON TO ADVOCATE UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Chairman Chamberlain of the House Military Committee said he would ask President Wilson in his address to Congress next week to advise military training as a preparedness measure of first importance. Impetus was given the movement for universal training legislation today when a call went out to Republican House members for a conference on the subject tomorrow. Many members have indicated their acceptance.

WOULD FEDERALIZE NATIONAL GUARD

NEW YORK, March 29.—Resolutions calling for the federalization of the national guard by act of Congress and also declaring that the necessity for compulsory military training and service were introduced at the national defense convention of the national guard executives here today by congressional committee. Each service and training, the resolution said, should be provided for in an organization modeled on that of the republic of Switzerland, "and a joint commission composed of members of Congress and officers of the national guard and regular army should be appointed by the President to prepare a plan to accomplish this purpose."

BRYAN WANTS REFERENDUM BEFORE DECLARING WAR

MIAMI, Fla., March 29.—William J. Bryan today addressed an appeal to the Senate and House of Representatives urging that an attempt be made to secure the suspension of Germany's ruthless submarine campaign through the application of the so-called Bryan peace plan which provides for an investigation by an international tribunal before resort to war. He asks that Congress also consult the wishes of the people through a referendum if it concludes that nothing but war will satisfy the nation's honor.

The mass meeting will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall. It has been called in order to ascertain to what extent the youth of Dunbar would respond to a call for volunteers.

The committee in charge requests all residents to display the American flag from their places of business or residences from now on until the time of the meeting and the crowd is asked by those in charge to follow the band to the place of meeting. The demonstration promises to be the largest patriotic meeting ever held in Dunbar.

Excellent reports showing an increase over last year were submitted from all departments of church work, and officers were elected, at the annual congregational meeting of the Christian church held last night in the church, with J. L. Kurtz presiding. H. C. Norton read the reports.

The financial report showed a balance of about $2,500 on hand at the present time, of which a fund that is being accumulated for the building of an addition to the church, to be used as a Sunday school room, amounts to about $2,000. The year was a success in every way, the church never being in a more flourishing condition, financially and spiritually.

For the coming year, the budget was placed at $3,300 to $3,400, and showed that at a recent financial canvass 253 of the 647 members pledged a total of $2,626. A canvass of the remaining members will be made in April. The collections on pledges for missions in 1916 amounted to $698.35 out of a total of $715.50 pledged, leaving only $17.15 unpaid. Sunday school total attendance for the year was 11,726, an average of 239 per Sunday. Total collections were $611.15. Total receipts from the Ladies' circle were $532.23. The circle closed the year with a balance of $1,182.25 on hand.

Rev. Buckner reported 84 calls, two weddings, 17 funerals, 10 special addresses, 20 sermons, 38 talks to Sunday school classes, 42 meetings of the official board and cabinets during the year.

Officers were elected as follows: Elders for three years, P. H. Beigley and Benton L. Boyd; deacons for three years, Henry Kurtz, S. P. Hood, W. D. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Trustees for three years, J. A. Mason and G. S. Stauffer; treasurer, A. H. Long; assistant treasurer, J. C. Stauffer; congregational clerk, W. H. Francis; chief usher, Dr. J. F. Kerr.

FURTHER STEPS OF SAFETY BOARD ARE UP TO COMMITTEE

Local Men Await Instructions as to Local Preparedness Census.

GENERAL PLAN OUTLINED

Organization of Home Safety Committees is Part of Course of Ascertaining and Making Available Defensive Resources of the Commonwealth.

The committee of public safety, composed of approximately 200 citizens of the state, held its first meeting yesterday in Harrisburg with 148 members present. Connellsville was represented at the meeting by P. W. Wright and E. T. Norton. Senator William E. Crow was a member of the nominating committee which selected the executive board of 12 members.

Mr. Wright and Mr. Norton arrived here last night. There is nothing for them to do from now on. Mr. Wright said this morning, except to wait for instructions from the executive board, since the next step to be taken will be decided upon by its 12 members.

Fayette county was quite prominent at the meeting. In addition to Senator Crow and the Connellsville representatives, three men from

GOVERNOR BRUMBAUGH PLEDGES CO-OPERATION OF STATE SAFETY BOARD

By Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, March 29.—Governor Brumbaugh today pledged to President Wilson the co-operation of the Pennsylvania committee of public safety. The governor's telegram says:

"A committee of public safety for Pennsylvania made up of over 200 representatives and influential citizens met here yesterday on invitation of the governor and pledged their services to organize Pennsylvania to complete preparedness and to support the national government in every patriotic endeavor."

Uniontown were among those present: Paul B. Hickman, Albert Gaddis and P. A. Johns.

A local safety committee will likely be organized in Connellsville, since members of the state committee were strongly urged to start such bodies in their cities. Mr. Wright and Mr. Norton plan an immediate effort along this line, but they received cards yesterday, to be distributed here among men whose services would be needed on a local defense committee. The activities of the local committee are to include the submission of reports and suggestions to the executive committee of the state-wide organization, and also to undertake any activities authorized by the executive committee. The committee of public safety, a memorandum handed to all the members at yesterday's meeting states, has been organized not only to have the function of ascertaining and making available the defensive resources of the state in men and materials, but also to have the right to express the mind of the commonwealth on questions of national defense.

The committee includes in its membership heads of railroads, bankers, publishers, educators, lawyers and leaders in industry and politics. All are ready to take up every phase of activity to be met with in time of danger and to co-operate with the national government.

The work of the committee will be carried on by five divisions, with fifteen sub-divisions. The five divisions are named as administration, relief, equipment and supply, service and transportation.

George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia is general chairman of the committee. The nominating committee, composed of Governor Brumbaugh, Mr. Pepper, Vance C. McCormick, E. T. Stotesbury and Senator Crow, named the following executive committee:

E. T. Stotesbury, W. W. Atterbury, A. C. Dinkley and A. W. Sewall of Philadelphia; A. W. Mellon and Homer D. Williams, Pittsburgh; Spencer C. Gilbert, Harrisburg; L. A. Warren, Scranton; E. M. C. Africa, Haddonfield; Allen T. Kurlay, Williamsport; George S. Penney, Reading; and James Scarlett, Danville.

B. F. Jones, Jr., of Pittsburg, was chosen vice chairman and E. B. Morris, Philadelphia, treasurer.

Governor Brumbaugh opened yesterday's meeting with a speech. A resolution declaring in favor of compulsory military training was not adopted.

NATTY RED OUTFITS FOR HUNTSMEN ARE POSSIBLE IF THIS BILL GOES THROUGH

In order to more clearly distinguish between hunters and their prey, Representative Powell of Luzerne county has introduced a bill in the legislature which would make it a crime to hunt game in the commonwealth unless the hunters are garbed in red coats. A fine of $24 is provided for violation of the provisions of the act.

The idea, it is presumed, is to serve the double purpose of putting common everyday hunting in a class with fox hunting and other classier forms of the sport, as well as to keep hunters from being mistaken for deer, bears, pheasants and other game. It is contended by some that hunters are too careless in their dress. They pay more attention to their guns and dogs than they do to their attire. A nice neat, pinchback red coat might cause a sensation if Street Commissioner William McCormick or some other good looking hunter were one when he went on his annual hunting trip, but suppose it should prevent him from being shot in mistake for a bear or pheasant? Others think it would be unwise to stop at merely a red coat. Why not require red pants and high boots, and a nifty little red hat with a feather in it, like the Alpine mountain climbers affect? Why not do the thing up tight while they're at it? An outfit of this sort would not cost very much, considering its up-to-the-minute style.

SUIT GOES TO COURT

Controversy Over Basketball Game Receipts is Still Unsettled.

After a hearing before Judge Stephen Rutherford of Scotland this morning, the case against Edward Wall of that place, who is being prosecuted by L. Scolnick, a local photographer, charging the defendant with keeping all the receipts from a basketball game played on March 26, was held over until the May term of court. Scolnick charges Wall with refusing to settle according to an agreement made before the game, by which the winner was to receive three quarters of the gate receipts, and the loser one quarter. The game was played at Ellsworth Hall in Scotland, between the Overhill and South Connellsville girls. "The defendants did not deny making the agreement but produced witnesses who said they heard Scolnick tell Wall, after the game was played, to keep all the money, he being satisfied to win the contest. The receipts were $103.

Chief of Police McCudden of Scotland subpoenaed some witnesses in this case yesterday afternoon. He found it a hard job. For one witness he had to climb four stories of steps, and while crossing the bridge his hat blew into the river. He had a colored man follow it until the current carried it back to the shore. He is on the job with it in Scotland today.

VISIT GLASS PLANT

Thirty-Two Salesmen on Tour to Spend Day at Dunbar.

Thirty-two salesmen representing the Philadelphia, Rochester and Washington branches of the Hines-Turner Glass company of Philadelphia, touring the glass producing centers of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, visited several Dunbar plants yesterday, spending most of the day at the Pennsylvania Wire Glass company.

Under the direction of Superintendent William Stevenson, and Foreman Arnold Stumm, Joseph Grochen and Anthony Hanaghan, they were shown the various departments of the factory. The men are traveling in Pullman, the party being led by H. G. Hollenbeck of the Hines-Turner sales department.

The visitors spent a few hours at the Semet-Solway plant later in the day and then left for Monongahela valley plants. The reason for their trip is the desire of the Hines-Turner company to have its sales force acquainted with the production of the goods which they handle.

CIRCUS GIVEN FOR TOWN CLOCK FUND HAD MANY THRILLS

"Great and Magnificent Amusement Event" a "Grand Success."

EXCITING WILD WEST SHOW

Dr. T. B. Echard, the "Fat Boy" in Side Show, Lives Up to His Billing as "Biggest Thing On Program;" Pawnee Bill McHugh Is There

The history of the town clock fund is incomplete without reference to an event which in reality was the inception of the movement to provide the town with a public timepiece. This was an occurrence of such note at the time that it is but fair to remind those of the present generation how important a part some of the older and well known citizens of today took in inaugurating the enterprise.

On three days, beginning September 19, 1915, "A Country Circus" was held in Athletic Park on the present Silgo property which attracted unusual attention because of its many novel features, all of which were provided by local talent. Reference to the files of The Courier reveals the fact that the circus was "a great and magnificent amusement event. It gave three star performances and quit, not because the show was bad or the audiences poor, but because the object of its organization had been attained. Thanks to the energy of General Manager George F. Pritchard and his able corps of performers and assistants, there is now a fund of $195 for the purchase of the town clock."

There was a full program of circus stunts by athletes, acrobats and daring performers. The "amuse" was filled with wonders and freaks, "the equal of which would be hard to find." "The living pictures were actually alive, and they didn't crack a smile in two hours' sitting, and what was more wonderful they never said a word." Dr. Thomas B. Echard as the fat boy was "the biggest thing on the program."

Mrs. James Fleming, then Miss Emma McCabe, received many compliments for her difficult part as the "Living Statue." The Misses Berger and other school teachers "sold all their pop except two bottles and all their gingerbread except a respectable loaf, which was preserved as a relic."

J. Donald Porter, who in his youth had had ambitions to become a famous actor, portrayed the character of "Tribby" with pronounced artistic success.

"The Wild West show was original and exciting, from the furious riding of the cow boys to the point-blank shooting of Pawnee William McHugh at the crumbling cracker in little Sammy Hildebrand's life-white fingers. The "Chariot Race," to which Charles Suttles' fiery and untamed steeds, driven by William Smythe, contributed many thrills, was a striking feature of the exhibition.

The concert "following the main performance," was put on by S. P. Hildebrand, J. W. Howard and "Cutie" McHugh, and was one of the pronounced successes of the show. Some of the songs were "a little rocky," the record states, "but the singing of Jimmy Howard was away up out of sight." "Shanty" Buttermore and his band were one of the best features of the show, as well personally as musically. They were ably reinforced by Rella Case's and the Wheeler band.

"On the whole the Country Circus was a howling success." One accident marred the performance. While practicing for the bicycle race Wade Marietta ran over a boy who attempted to cross the track in front of the rider. The boy's collar bone was broken. Dr. McClenathan attended the patient. The attendance at all performances was large and the people of town showed great interest in the entertainment. Charles Davidson and Colonel J. M. Reed and other prominent citizens were very liberal in their patronage and in boosting the show.

Your hair becomes light, wavy,
stiff, abundant and appears as soft,
lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandurine hair cleanse."
Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandurine and carefully draw it strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandurine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Dandurine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

CATARRH SUFFERERS

Here's a right-to-the-point remedy
for catarrh, head colds, enlarged nostrils, etc., that surely works like magic. No strongly heating, caustic, sprays, or irritating ointments—you just breathe in A. A. Clark and other leading local druggists who sell a lot of "Homemade" sprays, say they will refund money to any customer of theirs who buys it and fails to get relief.

As you inhale this pure, wholesome medicated air you can almost feel its tonic heating effect taking hold—sootheing the swollen, inflamed membrane and tissues, opening up the air passages, clearing out the head and nose
and throat.

It kills the inflammation, stops the painful "secretions," destroys the causing which causes catarrh or "mucus back." A safe, harmless, pleasant, inexpensive remedy which any druggist can recommend.—Adv.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses?
Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that a new, simple, and effective remedy has been discovered. It is a real boon for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful eye prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now
I can read very thing without any glasses, and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere around my eyes was without glasses, but after using the prescription for a few days I was free from all eye trouble. I can now read the print without glasses." It is believed that those who wear glasses can now discard them in a matter of time and that their eyes will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye trouble of many descriptions may be successfully brought by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription:

Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of "Duo-Opto" tablets. Drop one tablet into a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid hold the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear.
If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had acted for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Duo-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and are well prescribed by them. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen sight in 90 per cent in one week's time in many instances and that it is one of the very few preparations that do not hurt the eyes. It is sold in this city to J. C. Moore."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are water-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, nervous feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

will appear in the program which is as follows:

PATRIOTIC NOTE AT SAFETY RALLY

Junata Employees Introduce New Idea in Well Attended Meeting.

A patriotic spirit marked the safety rally in the Union Supply store at Junata last night. The room was decorated with flags and bunting and the meeting opened with "America" sung by all present and led by the Junata band.

After patriotic addresses by a few of the employees who had been recently naturalized, various statistics on recent accidents were read and discussed. Then each accident happening at Junata during the last month was explained by the men injured, and the way to have prevented each accident was pointed out. An informal discussion on safety followed.

Over 50 per cent of the Junata employees were present. Refreshments were served by W. S. Oldland, store manager.

ISSUES GARDEN PLAN

State Tells Back Yard Farmer Way to Go About It.

Special to The Courier. HARRISBURG, March 29.—For the special benefit of the "backyard gardener," the State Department of Agriculture today issued an "elastic plan," which can be adapted to almost any size of plot in any part of the state. Sheldon W. Funk, farm adviser in market gardening, prepared the diagram at the direct request of Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton. Mr. Funk's "elastic garden" is based on a plot 40 by 50 feet. It can be condensed to 1 by 5 feet, or expanded to 300 by 500 feet with ease, or even larger.

"Where the work is to be done by horse and tools," comments Mr. Funk, "the rows should be as long as possible, with no paths through the middle of the garden. In case permanent crops, such as rhubarb, asparagus and the different small fruits are to be added, they should be placed together at one end or the side of the garden. Where there is some variation in the soil, the layout should be used for the growing of the earlier crops and the deer and richer soil for such crops as cabbage, celery and onions."

TO BOOST GARDENS

Consolidation Coal Co. Increases Prizes for Back Gardens. The Consolidation Coal company of Fairmont is making preparations to encourage home gardening among its employees this year.

In former years it has been the custom of the company to give prizes for the best flower and vegetable gardens, fifty points being counted for the best gardens of each type. This year prizes will be given, but the vegetable gardens will count seventy-five points and the flower gardens only twenty-five. This change has been made because it is felt that with present prices of food stuffs more attention should be given this phase of the work.

THE TOWN CLOCK FUND.

The request to turn the town clock
fund over to the Colonel Crawford Memorial Association has been met with the objection on part of the originator of the fund that he does not feel that it cannot properly be diverted from the purpose for which it was raised.

The fund having been deposited to the credit of the school board it can be paid out only upon order of that body. The deposit was made with the express stipulation that it was "to be used for a town clock." Hence the school board would not doubt take the position that the fund could not be otherwise applied until the restriction placed upon its use had been removed. This restriction the originator of the fund can alone remove.

There being no apparent desire on part of the public to achieve the purpose for which the fund was raised
it is doubtful if any objection would be offered to turning the money over to the monument commission, which would have probably been regarded by many as the best way to dispose of the fund. The project of the town clock proposition feels differently about the matter.
He would prefer that the clock fund be preserved for that purpose, and generously offers to make an equivalent amount to be applied to the monument fund. This is entirely fair and certainly entitles Mr. Pritchard's conviction on the clock fund and his attitude on the monument fund to respectful consideration.

DUNBAR'S PREPAREDNESS.

To Dunbar belongs the honor of giving the first public exhibition of the patriotic spirit that is beginning to stir both old and young alike. Arrangements are being made for a meeting to be held Friday night having for its object the encouragement of enlistments in the navy.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 35 in the vicinity of Dunbar are especially invited to attend and all Civil War veterans, veterans of the Spanish-American war and citizens generally are urged to come and meet the boys and join in considering ways and means of giving practical form to their patriotism.

Well have to doff our caps to the live furnace town as the first of the coke region municipalities to give us an example in real preparedness.

OATS CROP INSURANCE.

If the farmers of Fayette county have a short crop this year, due to the ravages of the smut, it will very much, if not altogether, be their own fault.

Through practical field tests on a large number of farms last year Farm Agent Daugherty demonstrated that by treating seed oats with a solution of formalin, the effects of the smut were counteracted and the yield of grain per acre increased.

This year the same facilities will be provided all farmers throughout the county for the convenient distribution of formalin. This will be sold at a very reasonable price. As a comparatively small quantity is required to treat a given quantity of seed, farmers will be neglecting an opportunity to insure their crop at a trifling cost against a very common cause of failure if they do not make use of this well proven preventative.

DANGERS OF TRAP-GUNS.

The tragedy ensuing from the setting of that trap-gun in a fairmount home carries with it the lesson that every person who seeks the protection of their own property or person should not do so at the risk of another who may be entirely void of offense or intent to commit it against either.

The trap-gun belongs to the interdicted class of precautions. When fitted up to inflict injury upon an evil intentioned intruder it has quite as frequently made the innocent and unoffending person the victim. That such has been its history should be sufficient warning to those who would use it as a means of protective vengeance.

A CHANCE FOR REAL PATRIOTS.
Speaker Clark makes no protections of being a military strategist but he has some homely notions on how to open a campaign.

"If we are to send an army," he says, "I am in favor of filling the first brigade with these fellows who have been holding their heads off for war and the pacifists who have been yelling just as strongly against it both a nuisance."

Getting rid of these two classes will leave a clear field for the unhindered activities of the real patriot.

Spading gardens is an excellent form
of training for digging trenches.

The Amsterdam rumor factory, which is about as industrious as the similar establishment at 31 Peace street, distributes the Amsterdam rumor, sends out word that Germany will reject its peace offer, even to the extent of cutting off the U-boats' engines. It will take more than a rumor to call Uncle Sam or his preparations job.

The Pennsylvania Committee on Public Safety may safely count on having a busy summer.

The country hopes that President Wilson's mind will not be swayed from what he wants Congress to do when it meets next Monday that he will throw another "open switch," as he did when he forced the passage of the Adamson law.

Having officiated at the obsequies of local option and abolished the electric chair recently, the Legislature is anxious that the Legislature has a number of undertakers in its membership.

All the town clock fund seems to need to attain respectable proportions is sufficient time and compound interest.

The governor of Kansas has appointed Friday "Loyalty Day" when flags are to be displayed on every home and place of business in the state, patriotic ceremonies held in the schools and public meetings to be held. The Kansan executive must have had a tip from Dunbar.

Unlabeled's preparedness is looking the form of a protest against the incompetence of the Fayette County Gas Company to insure next winter's gas supply.

With Dunbar arranging the first loyalty meeting and the West Side furnishing the first army recruits, the northern end of the county is giving this whole section of the country a demonstration in Preparedness First.

A Distinctive and Complex
Business.

No problem in modern industry is more interesting or more difficult than that of producing, transporting and distributing NATURAL GAS.

It requires the utmost skill and resource of highly specialized mining, vast expenditure and experienced engineering in the construction and maintenance of great transportation companies which deliver the product finally to the consumer in the form of heat service.

This complex problem cannot be solved by any fixed rules of mining, transportation or merchandising.

The NATURAL GAS business stands out by itself as a science, a profession and a commercial industry all rolled into one.

It is a Public Utility subject to State control and regulation.

It is at the mercy of nature for its supply of finished product—its plant and equipment liable to be crippled, shut down or rendered useless at any time by the caprice of natural forces unforeseen and uncontrollable.

It is so sensitive and so quickly responsive to public demand that a drop in temperature to the most severe rigors of winter is met instantly, up to the very limit of its capacity to serve.

It is not permitted, as are other fuels, to adjust the demand to the supply by fluctuating prices in cold weather, or when abnormal conditions prevail—it must stand ready to serve in any quantity desired at any moment for any purpose, and at a fixed price.

It cannot regulate or limit the amount of gas any customer may take or the time at which delivery shall be made.

Its capacity and its price are prescribed by the laws of business and the State, but NOTHING CAN EXERCISE CONTROL OVER THE DEMAND which may be made upon its service.

Whenever called upon to do so, it is expected to give, and does give all it has in response to public needs.

Whenever a natural gas fire is lighted in a factory or home, the service it gives is the result of the combined efforts of a great many enterprising, resourceful, skillful, and experienced men.

Competency in the field, competency in finance, competency in engineering, competency in public utility service—all are necessary to deliver this wonderful fuel to the market.

The history of the Natural Gas industry of the United States is an appalling record of incredible waste. This is largely due to the fact that the selling prices for Natural Gas have been so low as not to warrant the expenditures necessary for conserving the supply.

The average price of artificial gas in the United States is over $5c per thousand cubic feet.

NATURAL GAS, on a heating value basis, volume for volume, is worth 50 per cent more than artificial gas.

"The only wise way for Cities to do is to allow Natural Gas Companies sufficient price so they can afford to prospect for, buy and hold gas territory for the present and future use.

"A great many Cities have tried to lower the gas rates when as a matter of fact, they should have been increased to insure the highest efficiency and to prolong the service for years.

"Whatever may be the opinion of the general public in the matter, it is a fact that the rates charged by public utility corporations for Natural Gas in this country are, in most cases, too low rather than too high, and that the most efficient regulation can be successfully accomplished only by raising rates to such a point that consumers will not waste gas." (1)

Serious Ills of the Flesh Disappeared Before Nerv-Worth.

The many endorsements of this wonderful family nerve tonic continue to have marked effect in increasing Nerv-Worth sales in this section of the country. And note that the endorser sign their names to these grateful statements. That is what counts!

"I have taken one bottle Nerv-Worth. Before taking the medicine I would have dizzy spells and would not be able to do any house-work. At times I could not do my house-work. I was pale in the face, no color, no ambition, nothing would cheer me."

"I was blue and despondent. Often thought I hadn't a friend on earth, my food would not digest. Constipated."

"The conditions above described are all gone."

"I recommend Nerv-Worth to everybody.—Mrs. P. M. Dulin, 121 Virginia Ave."

WANTS SPEEDIER ACTION.

Senator Spruill Would Hury Leominster Commission's Report.

HARRISBURG, March 28.—In an effort to speed up business in the legislature Senator Spruill today offered a resolution which was intended to hurry the economy and efficiency commission in its report containing information regarding the needs of the various affairs receiving state appropriations.

The resolution says the commission had been directed to report on March 1, but up to the present time had failed to do so, thereby delaying legislation. The resolution directs the committee to report on April 2.

WILLARD DOESN'T CARE TO RE-ENTER THE RING

Jess Willard doesn't care if he never touches another glove. He dreads the day when he gets the call to start the training routine. It would be a grind for him, for he has attained the highest rank in his profession, and he has reached the age when ambition to do things in the ring cannot be awakened to its former keenness.

Jess has plenty of money safely invested. He need never worry over the future, for his wealth is far greater than he ever had hoped in his younger days. He and his family are provided for. That is the real secret of the huge price which Willard asks for his services. He knows that some one may give it a worthy opponent can be found, and he is not averse to defending his title.

CALDWELL WELCOMED BACK.

Manager Donovan Believes His Return Means a Pennant Winner.

Will Ray Caldwell come back? The attenuated twister of the Yankees, who skidded off the straight and narrow path last season and was suspended, therefore, says he is going to rehabilitate himself. And Bill Donovan and the army of New York fans are hoping he will succeed.

Caldwell declares he never felt better than right now and that he is confident he will be able to repay Bill Donovan and the owners of the New York club for giving him another chance. "I want to be of some help to the Yankees this season," declared the big fellow recently. "This will be the crucial season of my career. I will realize that if I fail my life as a major leaguer will be at an end. But I am confident that I will be at my best, and I am going to put forth every effort at my command to help Bill Donovan."

Caldwell's optimism is shared by Donovan himself. The chief aim of the New York American league outfit is confident that if Ray buckles down to the serious business of the game he will be one of the winning pitchers of the league. He knows Caldwell is one of the greatest twisters in baseball when he puts his heart to his work.

Legalized Boxing to Continue in Minnesota For Two Years.

Legalized boxing will continue in Minnesota for at least another two years. The bill to repeal the boxing law passed by the legislature two years ago was defeated in the state senate by a vote of 31 to 25. This was known as the Sagging repeal measure, and its proponents believed it would be passed in the senate, but might fail in the house. The vote, although it came after two postponements, was something of a surprise. Thereafter that St. Paul will soon see some of the biggest bouts that can be arranged in the general belief.

HOW RAY SCHALK WAS DISCOVERED

Chicago Business Man Saw Him on Bush Team.

KID PLAYED LIKE VETERAN

Pegged to Bases Like Bullet and Batted to All Corners of Lot—Manager Callahan Finally Took Interest in Youngster and Got Him From Milwaukee Club.

Who is the Christopher Columbus who discovered Ray Schalk? Is Jerry Edinger the person? Is his name Kid Gleason, Jimmy Callahan or Clarence Rowland, or is he some one else?

According to the latest information, it seems to be some one else. Several Chicago baseball fans were recently discussing the subject. One contended the real discoverer of Schalk was a business man of Chicago—E. S. Lehmann.

Lehmann modestly asserts Fred Donovan was the real discoverer of Schalk, but that this Chicago business man deserves credit for bringing him to the attention of the south side officials as long ago as the regime of Hughie Duffy as manager is established by correspondence carried on between himself and Jimmy Callahan.

There is no doubt about the genuineness of this correspondence, and if former Manager Callahan had no previous tips on Schalk, Lehmann should be given full credit for bringing the attention of the White Sox to this catching wizard.

"It was at Pekin, Ill., my old home town, that I first set eyes on Schalk," explained Lehmann. "Pekin was in a double header with Taylorville that day. I remember, the day, it was July 12, 1911. Only a few fans had been around when I was attracted by the dash, daring and fielding and hitting exploits of the young catcher on the Taylorville team. The score book showed this youngster's name was Schalk."

"In those games Schalk fielded as I had never seen a catcher field before in the minor leagues. He was like a veteran, showed aggressiveness that was refreshing and lured to all corners of the lot. So pleased was I with the showing of this young catcher that I decided to go back the next day. I thought the showing of the Taylorville boy might be a fluke. Only an inning or two were necessary to rid my mind of all doubt on that score. Schalk showed the same popper, throwing ability and batting power he had revealed on the day previous."

"That day in Pekin I resolved to do all in my power to bring Schalk to Conneltsville and the White Sox. I wrote a letter to Manager Duffy imploring him to go after the catcher, but nothing was done. When Jimmy Callahan succeeded Duffy as manager I communicated with the new Sox leader and received a favorable reply. Callahan thanked me for my interest and assured me he would look up Schalk."

"In 1912 I kept after Callahan and received a letter from Philadelphia. Again he thanked me for my tip and assured me the White Sox would land Schalk."

In the meantime Schalk had been sold to the Milwaukee club, and this young catcher had been watched by officials of the Sox. Lehmann persisted in his efforts and in July, 1912, re-received the following letter from Manager Callahan from Philadelphia, where the White Sox were stopping:

Dear Sir—Many thanks for your tip on Catcher Schalk. I am satisfied we will have him with us this coming season. Yours truly,
J. J. CALLAHAN.

Schalk was finally signed and played his first game with the White Sox in August, 1912.

"I regard Fred Donovan, manager of the Taylorville club in 1911, as the real discoverer and developer of Schalk," said Lehmann. "Donovan brought him from the sand lot and developed him into a good ball player."

IN OLD DAYS NO SUCH THING AS FAIR UMPIRE

Nowadays Opinions Are Respected and Seldom Censured.

Not so many years ago the fellows who handled the indicators in baseball were constantly painted as second story workers and footpads by writers all over the country. There was no such thing as a good umpire.

And an umpire was never right. The players used to take every loophole they could find to yell over decisions and many of them, like George Hottel, for instance, were never out.

THE motor-oil "problem" is no problem at all, once you get this simple, primary fact pasted squarely in your hat, to wit:

No matter what car you drive, or when, or where, or how, there is one of the Big Four that is exactly right for that car under certain conditions.

Here's a group of four motor oils, refined and recommended by the oldest and largest manufacturer of lubricating oils in the world. They have proved-up in years of actual road-use.

Under certain conditions, Atlantic Light may be the one oil you should use; under other circumstances, Atlantic Heavy; and so on. Atlantic Polarine is the famous year-round oil that flows freely at all temperatures.

Ask your garageman which Atlantic Motor Oil your car should get. He will put you straight on this lubrication thing. Ask him for your free copy of the "Why" booklet, or write us.

PETEY DINK—Yes, it looks like the Women Aren't in Pete's Class.

Novelized by William A. Page From Maurice V. Samuels' Great Biblical Drama of the Prodigal Son, Presented at the Manhattan Opera House, New York

Copyrighted, 1917, by William Elliott, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Galt.

"I am a man in all eyes save thine," continued Jethro wildly. "The things I feel are what a man feels. Yet here I am nothing. Not only thou, but Gaal, whom I detect, would be my master. I tell thee, father, no man shall be my master."

"What wouldst thou do, my son?"

"Go elsewhere; see the great world beyond these hills; live my own life; be my own master; not Jethro, a son of Jesse, but Jethro himself!"

"The venerable patriarch smiled, much pleased at the boy's assertion of manhood and independence. He came to the boy and patted him indulgently upon the shoulder.

"Thou shalt go," he asserted proudly. "I will send thee to the tribe of Issachar. We have a kinsman there, a leather merchant, the mother's second cousin. For her sake Jethro shall welcome thee and for thine own sake also. Thou art a bright lad and hast seen much life of earth. Thou shalt live with him a while; and learn much of the ways of others before thou shalt come back to us, enriched with knowledge."

Jethro broke away from his father's embrace. How little the patriarch understood the feelings of the boy! Why, merely to go to the tribe of Issachar meant transferring obedience from one master to another, and he would be free-free to live the way of his own choosing in the valley below and to explore the wonders of the great city of Jerusalem. Yet his father would merely transfer his bondage.

"Is that thy idea of freedom," he demanded scornfully. "Live with Jethro, to make myself of greater worth to thee, and then to come back here and live again as a slave?"

"Of greater worth to me," repeated the need Jesse, hurt at the boy's words. "When have thou seen me enjoy wealth that all here have no?—No! Is it for need of ours that thou art here and I have saved thee many a day? How much wealth of gold or silver thinkst thou we can spend when we have come down into the gates of the grave? Thou art a foolish lad and quick of speech, but not of judgment."

Jethro angrily kicked a stubble of grass with his foot.

"I'll not have Gaal a master over me. Neither shall I stay here nor go to him."

Jesse gathered his robes about him and turned to go into the house, where already lights indicated that the evening meal was almost ready.

"I will not greet the holy day with angry heart," said Jesse softly. "Thou dost try my patience sorely, Jethro. It is late. Go to thy room and bathe and clothe thyself as doth befit the celebration, and it is my wish that thou shalt not stint thy kind words with thy brother."

Slowly the venerable and aged Jesse climbed the half dozen stone steps that led into the house of his fathers. Slowly he disappeared, and Jethro, with a tumult racing in his soul and deep resentment in his heart, flung himself madly upon the grass in impotent rage. For several minutes he clenched his fists in anger. Then, struck by a sudden thought, he sprang to his feet. Quickly he bounded up the long flight of steps outside the house which led past the apartments on the second story of the house and to the roof. But he did not ascend to the roof. Reaching over from the steps toward a window in which could be seen a light, he whispered softly:

"Mother, mother!"

CHAPTER III.

Huldah, Wife of Jesse.

In all Judah there was not a more devoted wife and mother than Huldah, she who had been united in marriage to the patriarch Jesse for more than forty years. With her husband she had resided nearly a half century in that same great stone house which Jesse's father had built and made the center of a vast estate. Here her boy Gaal had been born forty years before, and here he had attained man's estate and grown to middle age. Here, too, late in life, had been born the younger son, Jethro, regarded by both Huldah and Jesse as God's most sacred gift to them in their old age.

Huldah loved her boy Jethro. No greater affection was ever borne by a mother for her youngest than the deep, undying devotion of Huldah for this boy. Therefore when Jethro decided to make his appeal to the mother instead of to the stern and aged Jesse the boy knew that his plea would not be passed over lightly.

From within the window was heard the patient, softly modulated voice of the mother as she asked:

"What is it, my boy?"

Jethro answered impatiently:

"Mother, I would speak with thee alone, quickly."

Down the stone steps he ran lightly and patted anxiously to and fro upon the turf. In a few moments the tall and stately mother, unattended of all that seemed best in wonderful motherhood, crossed the boy and bestowed upon him forehead a sacred kiss.

"Thou art flushed, my boy," exclaimed Huldah anxiously. "Thou wert not clothed for such a chill night upon the hill. I have often warned thee against the sudden cold. Another time I shall not let thee go until with mine own eyes I see thee warmly clad."

Jethro impatiently broke away from the mother's embrace.

"Thou, too, wouldst tell me what to do," he declared angrily.

"My son!" Huldah was both surprised and hurt at the outburst. "Even as thou regardest me, so does my father," continued Jethro, turning to her passionately—"a child to do as bidden. But I tell thee, mother, I am a man, and as a man others seek speech of me. Even now one who has traveled and has great friends in many cities awaits my companionship on a long journey."

Almost struck dumb by a sudden fear that perchance the lad might be in earnest, Huldah drew back in terror, but strove to hide her anxiety.

"Thou hast said that I plague thy mother," she said tremulously. "Thou do," he declared angrily.

"The nameless terror gripped the heart of Huldah again.

"What knowest thou of him or of Jerusalem?" she queried anxiously.

"Of him?" He is my friend," declared Jethro, warming with enthusiasm at the prospect of the journey to the big city. "But of the city? Ah, mother, couldst thou but see as I see when from the distant hilltops I gaze upon the lights so far away to the north and dream of that upon which they shine—the many streets of the great city of Jerusalem, filled with palaces of gold and ivory, where dwell victorious captains and great merchant princes; the gates in the high city walls that open joyfully to stately caravans from Babylon and Nineveh and Egypt; places I know as yet only by name, but wonderful indeed, I say, to look upon. I see the whole world as I stand there, one of the thousands at the city's gates, and hear the clanking throng who would invade the camel's burdens, and as they bend, thinking their silver bells, I would see their purses so full—unbelievable golden robes, and where that bring men golden chains, and swords for heroes negatively engraved. I see them all, mother."

In his enthusiasm the youth sprang to his feet as if already he would be upon his way toward the magic city.

"And, though none know my name as I stand there," continued Jethro as though entranced by the vision before him, "yet I am a part of all the great life of the city, and to my eyes is borne the pulse of strange countries, and my enraptured eyes behold the lot of some prisoners of great beauty, borne by her joyous slaves. And the mighty capitals of thousands, will they not ride on milk white steeds while singing maidens strew flowers in their path? And I shall see it all—mother. Then while ye sleep, lying here in dreamless sleep, in the first watches of the night, there the joyous life begins, and everywhere is merriment and revelry and the soft music of fiddles in their wailing. And all the air is perfumed with rare spices from Araby the Blest. And I shall be a part of all there is and feel the glow of the full rush of life, and then at last—ah, then, mother, then I shall live!"

Impulsively the lad dropped upon his knees and buried his head in his mother's lap, tears coming from sheer joy at the prospect before him. The mother stroked his head tenderly and spoke with unerring instinct.

"Effect of all, Jethro, I fear the woman of the city."

Jethro sprang to his feet in surprise.

"Thou doth me wrong to think I seek for pleasure only, mother," he protested. "Do I not work? Then why not there? With such things calling me shall I stay here among these dreary hills watching the sheep that only know to eat, to drink, to die—seeing what they see, knowing little more, hating the morning, for it breeds the day, until I, too, shall die?"

"Things are not as our dreams tell us, my boy," Huldah came to the boy and put her arms around him affectionately. "To such as thee the city yieldeth but little, and from such much doth she take away. They who would conquer there must first gaze upon harder roads than thou dost choose. They live as softly rounded. Would they were drifter. Thy hair is soft and curly. Would it were rough and strong, for I fear, Jethro, I fear for thee in the great city."

Jethro stubbornly turned from her.

"Now that thou dost know, thou wilt get me my portion from my father?"

"Perhaps," Huldah smiled indulgently. "If thou wilt but wait, wait, until after tomorrow. Thou shalt not start forth in sin upon a holy day."

Jethro averted his face and said sulkily:

"Get me my portion or I go—without it!"

Huldah clasped her hands nervously. The boy meant what he said. Then, poor lad, if he really meant to go, perhaps "were better that he did have money, else might he starve."

"Thou knowest thy father is both wise and just," she said softly. "I shall speak with him. Meanwhile, I beseech thee, Jethro, prepare thyself in humble spirit for the evening meal."

But Jethro once more averted his face and said grimly:

"I shall stand here until thou dost return, unless thou stayest too long for my farewell."

Paradoxical. "Strange conduct, that, for the truth,"—Baltimore American Jethro, stung by the implied rebuke, turned away from her sulkily.

"Ask my father for my portion," he said terse.
